

Heaven on Earth

Judgment and Judgment day

Will there be a judgment day? Yes but when? Judgment day will come when 144,000 children born as was Jesus through the consecration of the womb will have received their Pardon. It will be on a 17th of April. What year could depend on Mankind's ability to achieve the above statement or it will happen on the year ending the six thousand year (6 day) reign of Satan on Earth. How will these children of God receive their pardon? They will receive it as in the Lords Prayer by their ability to forgive; for forgiveness equals forgiveness.

Why 144,000? Because it is the number of the catalyst required to overcome the influence of ill will upon the Earth. Who are they in relation to the rest of the population? They are the chosen ones, but who will be in Heaven? Will it only be them? No they are only the catalyst who will make Heaven possible here on Earth by changing the influence of ill will to good will here on earth. Everyone who will have chose to accept the spirit of God in them by the consecration will live in Heaven on Earth. By their own good will and their ability to the spiritual evolutionary jump the spirit of good will shall cause across Humanity. As in the Lords Prayer "on Earth as in Heaven" Yes On Earth! Not on a cloud! No one is on a cloud. There are no pearly gates. Saint Peter is not waiting for you. No one went to Heaven! The door to Heaven is the consecration and it is open to all souls of good will. Many of those who died before you are being born again as children on this Earth, and have or have had the same opportunity as you do. This does not mean that getting consecrated is all that is required of you to Enter Heaven on Earth, for to be consecrated means dedicated and this is a mission to be accomplished by you or by someone else in place of you.

Get consecrated and work that all mankind have the same opportunity you have in your hand, and remember there will not be a first or a last in the Kingdom of God.

How does judgment work? There are two judgments; one Personal and one General. The personal Judgment is according to your actions, improvements, sincerity, accomplishments for mankind ect. ect. The General Judgment is how well mankind is doing as a whole. So you can be the most goody two shoes on earth and if you're not doing your part for Humanity you are out of luck with the rest of us. Remember there will not be a first nor last in the Kingdom of God. That is because the Kingdom of God will be a result of a group action and a general condition of Humanity, Not a place on a cloud accepting souls one at a time based on their own Judgment or their tickets to heaven, or the proclamation of their arrival by some church leader making profit of your death. Now this general judgment does not get spoiled by a few bad apples. Not even by a bunch of them, because it only takes a very small number of good to achieve Heaven on earth. 144,000 is a tiny number compared to the six billion people on Earth today! We do however need to get that number and we are a considerable ways off. Humanity needs to improve to achieve Heaven on Earth, but it will go faster than most will expect. As the souls of good will amass the souls of ill will shall be killing each other, and that is happening now.

Now what if you die before Heaven on Earth is accomplished? Well then your personal Judgment will determine your fate. It will not be time to debate your merits. Your life will be written, and your actions will be facts. You Judge your own self while you're alive. You're not forgiven when you die or because someone said so. You are forgiven by your forgiveness and your actions while you're alive. Do not wait for your death bed to repent and know the Holy Spirit for it may be too late! Do not fear for the innocent child who dies. Fear of dieing yourself unforgiven. Not unforgiven by others but by your own accord. The innocent child who dies shall live again. You may not have another opportunity. Yes this is reincarnation, it is a privilege accorded to the worthy. Reincarnation is to be born again here on Earth in another body as a newborn baby. A Human one! It is a natural event for the soul. Resurrecting the dead corps from the ground is a vain wish without logic or reason putting way too much importance on the body which is a vessel for the soul and the spirit. In Heaven on Earth you may be able to keep your body or discard it through death of the body and rebirth into a new one as a baby.

Now one may say without death how will Earth sustain the population? With Gods gifts in heaven we will be able to use the full capacity of our brains. We will be given the celestial Heavens to expand to other Earths. No sickness, no sufferance, eternal life, and the remembrance of hell on Earth to keep our appreciation. Never again will Earth fall to temptation.

Who is God?

Or what is God could also be a proper question. Or what God is not. God is not male or female. God is not a being as those upon this Earth, but rather the energy of good which creates all things. This energy can be described as a spirit which wishes to reside in us if we allow it. Our free will allows us the choice to accept the spirit of God or block it by our evil thoughts and actions. What God is, is the reason in Gods kingdom there will be no one above another. No one can be God; God can be in us but cannot be us. This also explains the great question of “Why?” Why we are here and what is our purpose? We are here because of God-the energy of the cosmos if you will. God created us for its pleasure. To be able to enjoy it’s creation of Earth from within. To be able to experience the worlds pleasures through our senses, and with our intellect and individualities. To enjoy through us the beatitude of Heaven on Earth. (On Earth as in Heaven)

Why free will?

We have free will because without it we would only have instincts and we would not be free with our decisions. Without being able to decide we would be useless to God. God would not be able to enjoy residing in us. Nor would we be able to enjoy residing in Heaven. If God resides in a bird the bird only follows the seasons and its instincts. The choice is not open to roam, think, explore, create, love, philosophize; as we do, we are the freest creatures on Earth. We are the perfect host for God to reside in if only we can accept God in us freely with dedication and good will. (The Consecration)

Is our freedom limited?

Yes our freedom is limited either way we choose. If we choose the spirit of evil then we are limited to Hell on Earth by the consequences poor actions brings upon us. If we choose the spirit of God we are gifted with the vast abilities that come with Gods residency in us, peace on Earth, happiness and good will to all. However even with the choice of god's residency we are limited to do what is right what is good. Poor choices are not an option in maintaining Gods residency. In life at this age on this Earth we can choose one way then the other and back again, but this time comes to an end. For some it will end poorly, but for those who can see and discern those who can believe because they understand and can choose wisely they can dedicate themselves to this mission through the consecration and can give to their children and gain for themselves the opportunity to Heaven on Earth and become the meek who inherit the Earth.

Now I must address another portion of the subject of Judgment; the judgments we must make daily. See and discern for yourself. For yourself is the key. We all have the right to judge each other. We are even forced to judge each other! To what end is the defining line. Each time we see someone or cross their path weather we ever saw them or see them every day we are forced to judge them instantly! Are they a threat? Are we safe? Can we trust them? At times our very survival depends on it! It is so normal to judge instantly that we often don't even realize we are doing it. We are also easily offended if we realize someone else is judging us. How dare they! The truth is it's our right to judge anyone for our own purpose in order to assess our actions towards them. However we cross the line if we impose our judgment upon another. We must not condemn them or pass our judgment upon them. Who are we to decide someone's fate? The moment we do we become the oppressor. What if our judgment is false? Then what have we done? So how does anyone keep law and order one may ask. Its simple, let the bold keep law and order and let the meek inherit the Earth.

Those who choose this mission choose to cure the illness which causes sin and lawless acts of harm. Those who choose to uphold the laws of man choose to control the acts of the lawless by mans judgment. Both are of good intention and neither should get in the others way. It is well written in the doctrine of this mission to proceed legally. We all should be law abiding citizens along our path to curing the transgressions of Humanity. We should not however break the laws of God. Therefore "Thou shall not kill" does not permit us to take part in police or military positions, nor can we serve jury duty for risk of baring false whiteness and passing judgment upon another. Nor can we judge someone unworthy of receiving our knowledge or our blessing the only requirement is their good will freely. There are of course facts which bind us to our decisions. What is done before God cannot be undone. However judgment ends at how one person acts towards another; I cannot tell you how to live or what to do nor you I. If you are married in this mission then I cannot Mary you to another. However my judgment stops at my actions. I cannot barr someone else nor impose my decision or belief upon you or you upon me. We all have free will Who is the boss? Is it the pope, the high priest, the elders, the eldest, the cardinal, the minister, the rabbi, the servant of the mission, the counsel of servants, a unanimous vote? No the answer is God! Yes the spirit of God is the only boss! Everyone must exercise their free will, see and discern for themselves and make their own choices. No one can get paid to do Gods work! The only reward is Heaven on Earth once accomplished. No man has a right to power over another. If they take power over another they are sinners because they are stealing from God what belongs only to God. Why does it belong only to God? Power over us belongs only to God because God alone cannot abuse of it by virtue of free will and residency. I'll explain: God gives us free will that we may choose to be worthy of its spirit to reside in us. If we feel worthy enough to rule over our brethren, then our self righteousness, pride, haughtiness, lack of humility, arrogance, and so on makes us unworthy of Gods residency in us. Therefore we cannot take nor receive power over neither our fellow man, nor he us. We are free to be humble in Heaven. This does not mean we cannot uphold our convictions. We must confess our beliefs. We simply must not impose them upon another. That at last the good spirit of God shall rule us all without any of us ruling each other.

There is no hierarchy, no Pope, no Cardinal, no high priest, no elders, no man above another. Just servants of the Lord, some are consecrated with responsibilities: Consecrations, Marriages, Consecrating other servants, and the ceremony of the Pardon. The consecrated servants also have the responsibilities of making meetings available for the willing and seeing to it there are records of official acts. There are no secret or barred meetings no counsels to make decisions for others to live by. Only the Pardon is exclusive in that it is only for those who are consecrated. That is because only one who is consecrated is prepared. No one has a right to bann someone, but anyone has the responsibility of there own actions this includes servants who must be responsible for the work of their own hands, and must serve by Gods design and not his own. That is why the name is servant! Because he serves not rules! Remember when each is ruled by the Holy Spirit in them. There will be no need for laws or servants. We are working ourselves out of a job. Let the bold fight themselves and the Meek inherit the Earth.

The sins of our forefathers

Normally Society looks upon forefathers as pioneers and explorers who were heroic people who did great things which changed where and how we live today. In many ways this is true. Our forefathers did do extraordinary things or at least some of them did, and that's why they are remembered. Some of them did great things: Einstein, Rosa parks, George Washington, Gandhi, Moses, Jehovah, Jesus Christ, Eugene Richere dit Lafleche, ect, ect . Some of our forefathers did awful things: Hitler, Gangues Cahn, Charles Manson, Moses, The council of Nicea, Gustave Robitail, Romeo Hache, Quantin Bougeault, the Christian Crusaders, ect, ect. For a lot of histories Characters it is easy to remember them for the good or bad they did. It could also depend on who you are and what was important to you. If you were Egyptian Moses was the bad man who took away your slaves. If you are Jewish he freed you from the Egyptians by Gods will. If you are Christian then Moses brought you the ten commandments. When reading the Old Testament one could say Moses used the power he had over the people and the name of God to his advantage. That he would be fed well and bed well by any and all who would listen. Whatever he said became law because he said it not that it made any sense but because he said it. Yet it seems clear that God had long since left him.

For the SS Hitler was a hero. For most of the world he was a mass murdering villain. Everyone is capable of doing great things good or bad. Most of the worlds Heroes are unsung. They are the humble salt of the Earth. Many others are unseen villains they do loathsome acts which go unnoticed before the public eye and or don't have a noticed affect on society in general. Does the publicity of the act greaten or lessen its valor or villain? The world would love to know the who killed King Tut, but is his killer worst than who killed Jane Doe?

The point is Notoriety does not make what you do better or worst. Its what you do that makes the world better or worst for having done it. It is also important to realize that those who did actions for good or for bad may have also done actions for bad or for good. Adam and Eave are credited with the notion of being the first actual man and woman upon the Earth Physically. Eave gets credit for having ruined mankind for eating an apple! Quite an apple, giving them the knowledge of right and wrong. My point in this example is Eave gets bad press but Adam is in the clear. If I was to believe this story I would wonder how their three sons had children? So the point of notoriety is what enhances the story.

The repercussions of the actions of Moses elevating and or being elevated above his fellow man went mostly unnoticed. It was probably considered just fine because of his earlier actions of valor. What went unnoticed was the damage he did by allowing himself to be elevated above his fellow man. Above the Egyptians who “knew not what they did” Moses set a stage of hierarchy upon which the hierarchy of the Jews would seek the demise of Jesus. Had Jesus lifted them higher upon their pedestal instead of teaching equality the story would be much different. Constantine saw an opportunity to adapt the faith of the Christians to fight for the Romans and so the Roman Catholic Church was born at the council of Nicea in 325ad It also had a devastating affect upon the knowledge Jesus taught. The Bible was re structured and rendered impotent. Through Constantine the Romans saw an opportunity: Adopt Jesus as a martyr and divide the Jews. Gain from their faith their strength.

They were right the marriage of the Romans and Christianity was a great source of power over the people! Whenever you can control the people by faith rather than by force you are definitely on top! They will obey and protect you to their death of their own will instead of kill you in your sleep. They will pay you to lead them as they did for Moses. One problem, That is not what Jesus taught. As the Romans and Jewish-Christians amassed their doctrines and knowledge of Christianity, two things happened. They gained respect of being an authority of Christianity, and they realized that teaching as did Jesus, Gabriel, Joseph, Mary, and the Essins would cost them that authority. These two things increased in conflict until they came to a head at the council of Nicea in 325ad. This is where the Christian leaders and Constantine would decide which of the books of Christianity that they had amassed would be in the Bible and which would not They are known to have stricken 42 books from the Bible. Books like the story of Mary, and about the family of Jesus. It was a council of forefathers filled with haughtiness, vanity, fear of the Romans, and greed. They once again set a stage of hierarchy which is still in place today, and they twisted the teachings to suit the needs of hierarchy by forming what I call the pillars of Christianity.

1. The story of the serpent and the apple.
2. The Immaculate Conception.
3. Jesus died for our sins.
4. You can go to Heaven when you die.
5. The blessing of the authority not the Blessing of his hands.
6. The bible is true and complete.
7. God watches over everyone.
8. Confess and be forgiven.

These pillars of Christianity are the means by which Christian leaders achieved and maintain control over the masses by installing mysteries without reason. Concepts to follow in blind faith (or else be persecuted), With a wondrous promised goal to achieve of going to heaven when you die. Heaven is a goal which is unobtainable by the pillars of Christianity. They created an enormous system of indentured slaves. The people would gladly pay the churches to teach them how to get to heaven when they died. Once dead the churches would proclaim the arrival in Heaven for those who conformed and reinforce the bliss of their workforce. The hierarchy of the churches would absolve all sins of all those who conformed, or did not conflict with the authority. They would also make examples of those who troubled them by having them killed or exiled in the name of God. Unless an unfortunate accident would happen and then they could say that God did not protect the sinners because they disobeyed Gods will; well represented by the hierarchy of course. To please and or control the crowd the sinner must die. To appease the loved ones they would offer last rights, often in lieu of further torture before killing them anyways. All this sounds so sinister because it was sinister it is sinister and it will be sinister until enough people wake up, see and discern for themselves what makes sense, and what was concocted to control the masses and keep us from accomplishing Heaven on Earth as in the Lords prayer. Do not believe what cannot be explained without the use of connotations such as Immaculate Conception, it's a mystery, and because the bible says so! Without the pillars of Christianity the hierarchy will crumble under the weight of truth. Each of the pillars have fictional stories designed to be opposite from the truth. Each of the pillars in its own way keeps man from achieving Heaven on Earth.

I will explain each of the pillars of Christianity by what it is and what it should be. There are of course some different variations and some of the subject matter has been explained earlier in this book.

1. The serpent and the apple.

This story tells how Adam was made of clay and Eve was made from his rib. They lived in the garden of Eden and God made the garden fruitful so they never had to work and they would live forever. There was only one catch; they were forbidden to eat from the apple tree in the middle of the garden. A serpent seduced Eve to eat an apple. She got Adam to eat one also and they received the forbidden knowledge. They had defied God and were exiled from the garden. From then on they had to work for their food and shelter, they grew old and died. Before growing old they had three sons Cain, Able and Seth. Cain killed Able, and was exiled from wherever they were. Cain and Seth both went on to populate the Earth with millions of people!

Cain and Seth must have been very special to be able to populate the Earth with no women! The lesson claimed of this story is not to defy God and that the world suffers because of a woman who did defy God, also not to try to obtain forbidden knowledge. Both God and the knowledge represented by the Church. So if you defy the Church or Question the Church you have defied God!

The true story of Adam and Eve is actually feasible. Has a good and positive message for humanity, and helped us on a path to a spiritual advancement.

Adam and Eve were two of the millions of people alive on Earth when Jehovah talked to them about their spirituality, and morals. He taught them the difference between right and wrong, and thus gave them a conscience. He taught them the truth of the one God. He told them how to bear children in Gods image and resemblance. He asked them if they would do just that and bear Gods children. They agreed and received the same blessings Joseph and Mary did. Eve received the consecration of the womb (the blessing of the hands and of fire). They were the first two people to receive the knowledge of write and wrong and become Man and Women apart from the Humans. Earth, at one time was the Garden of Eden and produced without toil. Adam and Eve meant to accomplish Gods will, but Adam did not watch over his bride he left her alone. In her loneliness she met a stranger who showed her the attention she craved and she had an affair with him. She had broken their vows she had committed adultery and she got pregnant by the stranger. This was very upsetting to Adam. He felt betrayed and angry he was jealous and hurt. He blamed her for her weakness but forgot his absence. She carried the baby in her womb with all the feelings of regret, shame, hurt, guilt, all the emotions she had and all the emotions she witnessed from him. All these emotions were put upon their child Cain and he was born with the burden of Eve's transgression. He was also raised with the same feelings upon him by his parents. Adam and Eve reconciled and had two more children Able and Seth. Cain grew up as the bastard son of Eve and his animosity grew with him because of the lesser love of his parents. He eventually killed his brother in a fit of jealousy, and anger built up from his conception, and the manner he was treated as he grew up. The damage to the sanctity of their knowledge; the hatred in Cain and the shame upon them kept them from being able to change the ill will of mankind which had already taken root before Jehovah spoke to them in the first place. Jehovah was trying to give humanity a chance at correcting their transgressions. As time passed the transgressions were wearing away at the health of mans spirit and causing a chain reaction to the Earth. The Earth would no longer produce by itself and Adam and Eve would only be a beginning to the process of our spiritual healing.

Jehovah gave the first lesson of how to have children of God, only the people were not ready for a change of good will so Jehovah told them they could do as they wished for six days (six thousand years), and he left them. They forgot him but retained some of what he taught them which became the foundation of all the religions of similar beliefs .

Teaching the story of the apple gave the churches a means to explain to children their values without talking of infidelity in a physical manner. It also took away the means of having children in the image and resemblance of God. The consecration was no longer taught after the council of Nicea of 325ad. The Essins were practicing what they understood of it before the angel Gabriel gave it to Mary. If the true story of Adam and Eve was still told they would not be able to tell people they cannot have children as Mary did. It would be understood that it is the way God gave us to have children spiritually and physically. They would also not be able to say that Adam and Eve were the first two humans instead of that they were the first two with the knowledge of God everyone would want to know what that knowledge was, and they were given six days to improve themselves spiritually of their own free will and not that God made the Earth in six days but that he would through us fix our transgressions in six days (six thousand years). So a snake was put in place of the neighbor a apple tree was put for the tree of knowledge (which is the knowledge of the consecration and attained in the womb which is Gods Garden to bear his fruit who are his children) Adam and Eave were claimed to be the first two so the rest would be lost, and Jehovah would be forgotten because what he taught would not work with hierarchy. They would just call him God and say he took away the Garden of Eden as a punishment for all of us to suffer over Eves mistake. Instead of that if we did what Eve was trying to do we would heal humanity.

2. The Immaculate Conception.

This is a story that was twisted at the council of Nicea in 325ad when the Roman Emperor Constantine decided to adopt Christianity as the official religion of Rome. Constantine recognized the value of an army fighting for their faith instead of for an Emperor who they would rather kill in his sleep. So by adopting Christianity and creating the Roman Catholic Church he could have his army, and divide the Jews. In order to use Christianity he had to make it a token faith because if it really worked and produced children like Jesus he would not be able to rule over them and if it healed humanity he would have no hierarchy at all. So at the council they took anything that could work or would make the people hard to control out of the bible or changed it so it would keep the people full of faith without any salutary effect. The Immaculate Conception was a prime subject for change. The story says that the angel Gabriel blessed Mary and she became pregnant without ever having sex with a man. This would be very effective to keep the martyrdom of Jesus and ensure that he could not be duplicated they could not afford to have another Jesus. So any woman who had sex to get pregnant could not have a child of God. The consecration would be hidden as the Immaculate Conception, everyone would love Mary and no one would aspire to do the same as her. The lesson would be rendered useless other than for power over the people.

The truth of it is that the angel Gabriel gave the consecration to Joseph and Mary he then married them, blessed Joseph that his seed would be blessed and consecrated Marys womb so she would have the spirit of God in her for her future child when Joseph would impregnate her by the flesh in the natural manner of intercourse. Thus making Jesus the son of God by the spirit and the son of man by the flesh (the spirit of the father united to the flesh). The same consecration was offered to Marys cousin Elisabeth but her husband refused to partake in it saying that she was barren and could have no children. This piece of the story is very important for a few reasons; it was offered to a barren woman which means it does not matter if Mary was a virgin or not because Elisabeth surely was not or her husband could not call her barren. Also he refused the blessing but Elisabeth accepted it and she was no longer barren she conceived a child named John who would become John the Baptist. No one ever claimed that Elisabeth immaculately conceived John. But they both received the same blessing from the same angel.

The difference is that one husband refused to be blessed and take part in the dedication involved in the Mission of having a child of God for God. The consecration of the womb not the Immaculate Conception

3. Jesus died for our sins

With the Romans someone had to be a Martyr, they knew no better way of befriending the people they conquered than to make a hero of someone who was dead. That's why there are so many acclaimed saints, it is not because they were special people, but because it made the local public feel better. With Jesus he had long since been dead but no matter if he was already looked up to all they had to do was give his death a different suitable purpose. Saying he was born magically and died for our sins instead of because of our sins we made him a martyr who could not be reproduced and made everyone feel better by it. Better yet they could squash any thought of having children in Gods resemblance because if you had a father you could not be perfect like Jesus and if your mother did not have a husband then she was a whore, so why then if Mary was a virgin was she not a whore? Because the angel Gabriel impregnated her with the blessing of the hand, (which was then reserved for only the priests to become priests- Don't take the chance that it could work again!) So how did his death equal our atonement? When he was being crucified he said forgive them father for they know not what they do. So the story goes that he forgave us for our sins when he was being crucified which was very convenient because of the instant gratification of being forgiven for simply liking a dead guy! So everyone who says they believe is told they are forgiven they feel better and get instant gratification. All they have to do is conform to the authority: the Church. Did anyone consider that just because Jesus asked for their forgiveness it does not mean that anyone was actually forgiven? He was just being kind.

He was our example of how to act and how to treat others. He forgave the people killing him, but it was up to them to repent, change, and find their own forgiveness.

4. You can go to Heaven when you die.

The churches tell you that you can go to heaven when you die. If you follow Gods will and they will tell you what that is because they are the authority, they represent Gods will. If you deny it then you will go to Hell and that's very bad. So behave, conform to the Church and you will get your reward, when you die of course.

The truth of it is easy to find Just look in the Lords prayer: On Earth as in Heaven, or Heaven on Earth. Hell is sure enough we live there! When we accomplish Heaven on Earth It will be Hell that will be banished from us by our good will.

As long as they have that big prize to promise they have power over the people, and collect their money. If the people would see that they can accomplish Heaven on Earth then hierarchy would fall to the wayside and the leaders of Church and state don't want that anymore now then they did at the time of Jesus. It will be hell for those who don't have enough good will to participate in Heaven. Not a Heaven promised on a cloud but Heaven on Earth brought about by Gods children, your children if you choose to accomplish Gods will (The spirit of the father united to the flesh) Via the Consecration of the womb: the door to Heaven on Earth.

5. The blessing of the authority not the blessing of his hands.

How nice how neat it is to feel blessed when someone else says so. Ah ah ahchoo! Bless you! Someone says. It is polite, kind maybe; if it is meant well and not just in duty of etiquette. Does anyone actually feel better? Is their cold or allergy gone? When a priest says bless you are you? Is your life then blessed? Do you then get well? What makes him able to heal you? Does the power come from him, or his boss the Cardinal, or the Bishop, or the Pope, Rabbi or High Priest?

Jesus said it came from his Father of the spirit God.....

Jesus placed his hand on those he healed and the power of God went through his hands, he also made statements and they came true but he never put the glory upon himself or took profit in the name of God. He gave us the example of how to live and act. When someone says the power is theirs and puts themselves above another or above one another they may well be using the Lords name in vane. Gods spirit can be in his children but they cannot be God. No one can be God or take his (its) place.

When a priest blesses something is it blessed? When Mother Theresa blessed guns that went to war did it make them shoot better or kill only the bad guys? If an army is blessed by the Church does that make it righteous? Does Kosher food take longer to spoil? Do blessings work or are they using the Lords name in vane? How many blessings does it take to support a profit center called a Church, Temple or Synagogue? The point of all this is the church leaders took it upon themselves to reserve the blessing of the hands to themselves to render it useless and then claim authority over the people. The blessing of the hands is by the people for the people. The Consecration also uses the blessing of the hands of an authorized Servant who is consecrated to the tasks and duties of being a servant not for power or glory but for the establishment of Heaven on Earth. To the end that he is working himself out of a job! There is no hierarchy in the Mission and there will be no hierarchy in Gods Kingdom. This statement of no hierarchy brings me back to the sins of our forefathers when I mentioned the names of Gustave Robitail, Romeo Hache, and Quintin Bougeault it was because even though the greater population of the world does not know of them they took it upon themselves to dogmatize the doctrine and create a hierarchy structure against the doctrine of this Mission causing it to be stagnant for many years delaying the works of this Mission and retarding Heaven on Earth by denying the people of the Mission access to the Holy Spirit, teaching the people only they have the authority, and denying our children the use of the blessing of the hands between them and to humanity.

They were also teaching superiority over the neighbors. And putting the servants on a pedestal, they were not alone but they were the major players of the sins of our forefathers. Today the problems of those actions are diminishing and with the freedom and access to the doctrines this Mission of truth and good will can flourish towards its goal of Heaven on Earth.

6. The Bible is true and complete.

That's the story. It says so in the Bible. If you say you don't believe the Bible to someone who does, then you must be a heretic, heathen or non believer. What many do not realize is that not believing everything in the Bible does not mean you don't believe anything in the Bible.

The bible is a true story written and re written time and again and again by fallible people with their own agendas, and other peoples agendas. The main story tellers of the Bible were the disciples who for the most part were illiterate fishermen who were quite young during their experiences with Jesus. By the time they started to have the stories written down they were at best old men if it was them telling the story at all. At least sixty years had passed so take an eighty year old man and ask him for detailed accounts of what he witnessed when he was twenty or younger. See if he can recount exactly what happened and what was said about a story that he has been telling all of his life. (like a fishing story) Only he must convey it to someone else who must put it to paper without losing any of the meaning. Almost three hundred years pass and the council of Nicea decides to strike forty two books from the Bible. For the purpose of pleasing the Emperor Constantine to be able to have the protection of the Roman Army and gain stature and wealth instead of being killed. Fifteen hundred years pass of apostles writing and re writing adding and subtracting to and from the Bible to suit the ever changing needs of Rome and the countries submitting to Rome. Eight translations and at least five different languages later and then someone puts it to the printing press and it is changed a few more times. Good thing it says it is true and complete!

Perhaps a non believer could listen to someone who believes in the Bible as true and complete and complete truth and think: how can blind faith have such a grip on those poor people. They must not be able to see and discern for themselves.

How is it that science says it can carbon date Bible scriptures back to just sixty years after the death of Jesus and the science is well received by the Bible believers, yet when the same scientific procedures date humans far before Adam and Eave the Bible believers now say hogwash! The Bible is true and complete! And says Adam and Eave were made from clay and ribs! The answer is blind faith ruled by hierarchy and dogma.

7. God watches over everyone.

Does he or does he not? First lets look at the Question and why it is a pillar of Christianity. The hierarchy of the churches needs to maintain control over the people. The best way is to convince them to follow their teaching and their will so they will conform to their hierarchy. When that wont work scare the crap out of them with the wrath of a vengeful God! Tell them God is always watching them, that God sees all and is keeping tract of their actions. That they will certainly go to hell if they don't obey the Church, Synagogue, authority. Unless of course they repent and obey or give in to the authority then they can go to Heaven again. The promise that God is watching over everyone is also made to re assure the people that God is protecting them because they are such good churchgoing people! In the event that someone Questions why has this tragedy befallen me? Why did my child get hurt I was always, good I always went to church. Have I done something wrong or has God abandoned me? They are answered with no; no it is not you it is not anything you did. God works in mysterious ways we must not Question his methods it is certainly for the best now go home and find peace God is watching over you! (and the people keep on swallowing this crap)

The truth is that God is not watching over everyone! Bad things happen to good people everyday and it has nothing to do with God it is because humanity is subject to it`s own behavior. If we act poorly or foolishly as a whole harm will befall us. Evil ill willed people do horrible acts upon innocent victims and the illness of humanity causes illnesses to befall upon us. If you want a placebo go to the churches. If you want a cure accomplish Gods will. This does not mean there are no miracles or that The Spirit of God does not protect anyone but that the miracles people witness are to help achieve his will in the ways they will find on their path. That does not mean one person is more worthy than another but that God is helping Humanity on its way to recovering from its illnesses. We are free and with freedom comes rewards and consequences both of which can be dependent upon Humanity as a whole. Do your part and be good to Humanity. Don`t assume God is protecting you, and know your actions affect us all.

8. Confess and be forgiven.

Confess and be forgiven is a pillar of Christianity because it gave a means of appeasing the masses in lieu of giving them a means to Heaven on Earth. By relieving them of their guilty conscience they would be able to believe they could go to Heaven when they die. Today they simply say everyone is going to heaven except the really bad guys. As long as they say they believe in Jesus. What was devised was a weekly system of sin, confess, repent, sin, confess, repent..... and so on. This came out of stop sinning and repent. Also He who has not sinned cast the first stone, and the confession of Jesus. Everyone therefore must be a sinner, so they must confess every week! Even the little children who do not even know how to sin yet must be taught that they are sinners so they will confess what they did not even do yet, and can be forgiven by a priest they must call father who may or may not actually be their father but they don't think so. Then he can use the lord's name in vane and say they are forgiven. This way when they grow up they can pay him to forgive them because they will be sure they are guilty of something as usual! They have confessed and been forgiven once a week all their life!

The truth is that Jesus showed us how to confess one God, and how to forgive others at all costs. Confessing your belief in God without fear or shame has nothing to do with forgiveness. Confessing your wrong doings should be kept to yourself for your own awareness so you can change your own behavior and find your own forgiveness no one else can cause you to be forgiven, or proclaim your forgiveness and certainly not in the Lords name! Jesus forgave us but he was not causing anyone to be forgiven other than himself. The Lords Prayer says it quite clearly "forgive my trespasses as I forgive those who trespass against me" It is something we must do for ourselves so we can heal and stop harming humanity. All this was twisted around to cause fear of God, a need and respect for the clergy, and a guilty conscience upon the people to keep them coming back. It is and was a large part of the hold on the people.

So confess your belief in God, keep your sins to yourself, and find forgiveness and peace within yourself. There are a few more subjects that could be considered a pillar of Christianity but are a bit less substantial. One is fear of God. I was discussing religion with someone who spoke of being a Good God fearing person, I said I never feared God, Why should you fear God? He was appalled at me and asked if I just said that I did not fear God. I said why should I? Do you? He said of course he did and that I must be a heathen! I had never been called a heathen before and I was quite amused. He was suddenly very impatient to leave and we soon parted. I have never seen him since. The conversation made me think of the fear of God that the churches put in the people. God is not a vengeful God. How could God be both good and vengeful? It is ridiculous! There is much more sense in someone fearing the repercussions of their own actions but to think that the harm that befalls us is Gods fault is quite egotistical and a very insulting perception of God. It appears to me that if you fear God you would do a lot better to fear yourself for whatever you do is your own fault and certainly not Gods. Confess to your own self what you have to be ashamed of, stop it, forgive yourself, watch and worry over your own actions, Fear yourself for you are your own worst enemy and LOVE GOD! Do not fear God. Remember the true prayer. "The Spirit of the Father United to the Flesh" How can you unite to something you fear? Love God and invite the spirit of God in your body to always reside in you.

The Cross, The Crucifix, Often a lovely piece of jewelry on a beautiful chain around the neck of so many who claim to love Jesus. Why is it that the murder weapon of Gods son is taught to be such a fine memorandum of him? If someone killed your son with a gun would you wear a gun around your neck, and put a toy gun over your bedroom door? The reason this is a custom is to perpetuate his martyrdom. His crucifixion was to force him to deny God and make an example of him. When they failed to force him to confess other than his Father he became a martyr. His being a martyr worked in Constantine's favor to make someone a hero to worship forever with no salutary results. Not that Jesus was not a hero, but that they took away his purpose and hid it saying that he died for your sins, the cross became a symbol of his dieing for you being a good thing. The good things he did like being born in the manner you should have your children with the consecration of the womb and living a life of forgiveness, and kindness, those acts were overshadowed or deleted by the churches efforts to render his teachings impotent. So when you are going to put on your cross think of the deception it represents and if you would want your murder weapon around the necks of those you love. If you really want to give him homage bear your children as did Mary and you will be giving Jesus a family and bringing Heaven on Earth

The Consecration of the Womb. There is nothing more important that I could possibly imagine. I have written about it in many places of this book but there is still more to be said about the Consecration of the womb, never could you speak enough about this repetitious event to bring haste to the accomplishment of Heaven On Earth. When the Church under Constantine first hid any of the Knowledge of the consecration they sought to destroy all knowledge of it. Many Christians died trying to protect the true teachings. The dead sea scrolls are a testimony to the amount of doctrine that was available before the council of Nicea. There was such a cover up and it made such a difference from what they were supposed to be teaching to what they were teaching that when the Templars found evidence of it the power of keeping it was overwhelming. They saw right away that they had great power over the church because if they let the world know what they knew they would destroy the church. They did not want to let anyone else have it because they would loose the power it wielded over the church. If they lost it they would lose the protection it gave them by ransom. They soon were in the business of hide and seek with the Church. The Knowledge became known as the Holy Grail. Not because it was a cup or Chalice but because it is the Holy Grail. The knowledge of the Consecration of Mary to have a child of God in a manner easy to reproduce throughout Humanity and destroy the hierarchy of all religions is the Holy Grail or Sang Real. The way to be the chosen ones, the children of God, is the greatest secret: the secret of Mary hidden by the myth of the Immaculate Conception.

The consecration is the means to accomplish the true prayer “The spirit of the Father United to the Flesh”, and the manner of attaining the 144,000 chosen ones the Bible speaks of. The consecration is a dedication of spirit and body both literally and figuratively. When a woman is pregnant she is completely connected to the child. She gives the child the nutrients both physically and spiritually for the growth of the child. The state of mind of the mother affects the child, this does not mean the child will be a scientist if the mother is, but that the things which affect the mother will affect the child in some manner also. Lets say your mother in law is very intimidating and your wife always feels the pressure of the intimidation, the child may have a fear of intimidation or hate to be pressured. If the mother is afraid at night because she is alone, the child may be more afraid of the dark than normal, or may crave companionship more than someone else. In the case of Adam and Eave Cain picked up the resentment, anger, jealousy, feelings of guilt. He was pre disposed to the eventual event of killing his brother. There was however much more to it than that because his parents could have showed him the love and attention to overcome his tendencies but they didn’t they continued to display those feelings to him as he grew. The point is not that your children are going to do directly as you behave or witness but that they are affected by what a mother is affected by in some manner and to some degree. If a mother decides not to watch T.V. because she thinks it will be harmful for her child, well then good for them but if she spends her time missing the T.V. and dwells on it the child may yearn to watch it all the more. It is not for someone to say what a couple should or should not do while they are planning or having children, but for the couple to be aware of the cause and affect that their actions can have on their children. It is proven that a child who is born from a mother who was abused is affected by the event even if it happened long before she had the child. The things that happen to a child can affect their children and their grandchildren. It is important for us to be aware of this so we remember to be cordial all the time so we do not do future harm to society, and we pay attention to care for our wives that they are always in peace and happiness that those gifts are in our children. This sounds like a chauvinistic view but it is a jib for both parents to bear equally. I put it in such a manner that fathers don't forget their actions because they are not the ones having the baby, but they are the ones their wives see daily and so their children born and unborn see also. This does not mean that if your wife sees you naked so does your child it is about the sentiments perceived by your wife that affect your child so be nice, Both of you. And keep the mean or disturbing people out of your life, or at least don't let them disturb you any more then you would let them disturb you baby.

The consecration is a dedication, a pact with God that you want to invite God in your baby, that you want to have Gods child by the spirit and your husbands child by the flesh. It takes both of you to cooperate and want the same for your child. That is why Joseph was also blessed and why Elisabeth was not able to have Jesus because her husband refused. The consecration is a blessing of your womb for the child to be born in Gods garden. That your child will be one of Gods children, one of his fruit and not the forbidden fruit that Cain was. If you soil your union with other than your husband you cannot have the same child you could have with the cooperation of your husband. That would alter the state of the sanctuary of your womb and your thoughts which would in turn affect your child. The Immaculate Conception of Jesus is very reproducibile by simply keeping the same pact of love honor and integrity that Mary and Joseph did after receiving the Consecration of the womb and keeping their love and sex life between them so the child could be born with the blessing (the spirit of God through the hands of Gabriel on the head of Mary: the Consecration of the womb) keeping the sane seed of Joseph blessed also by Gabriel when he married them and keeping their promise before God to love and care for each other while having and raising their children.

Sounds like a simple good relationship between a caring couple except they had the Consecration. Find the Mission of the Holy Spirit of Eugene Richer dit Lafleche and get consecrated get Married and get the consecration of the Womb for your future child that is the good will required of you to hasten the coming of Heaven on Earth for you and your children.
